

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY

PROGRAMME SPECIFIC

Zoology is the science of animals. This subject will let the students know all about the types of animals present on the earth, their life cycle their behavior and how much they useful to us.

Students will be aware about the economic value of each animal preparation of medicines from different part of the animals and its use in another aspect. Genetic engineering will let you know how to improve the quality and quantity.

Apiculture, Sericulture and Aquaculture are the most important part of animal science which students can know.

Bacteriology and Virology will explain the benefits and Harmful effects of Bacteria and virus. So that they can protect themselves from Universal diseases most of the pathogen are their bacteria of virus which causes a number of diseases.

Reserve forests wildlife sanctuaries, Zoo National Park etc are the most popularized places which not only increases GDP but also creates an excellent environment for recreation.

The students of Zoology can know the morphological structure of all the animals which are indeed the best creation of the world.

The animal behavior its response to environment. The internal structure of the animal not only let the students know about the life forms but also teaches the origin of various commercially important animals and its products.

Plants and animals give us all the colors we have in our life. Both in animals and plants including human beings the students of zoology can know the cause and can protect themselves.